Nominate vets for Operation Welcome

Chandler is now accepting nominations for its Operation Welcome Home ceremony that will be held in the spring.

Nominated veterans should be Chandler residents and have been on active duty within the last three years or leaving soon.

Operation Welcome Home is an opportunity for local residents to honor and show appreciation for military men and women who are returning from active duty or leaving for service.

Residents or businesses also may participate through sponsorship or in-kind donations for the program.

To nominate a veteran or sponsor the program, visit chandleraz.gov/patriotism. For more information about Operation Welcome Home, call 480-782-2243.

ICAN gets five new board members

ICAN: Positive Programs for Youth recently add five new members to its board of directors.

They include: John Hoopes, vice president of the Salt River Project; community volunteer Matt Julian; Blas Minor, battalion chief with the Chandler Fire, Health & Medical Department; CPA Sara Nance of Wallace, Plese & Dreher; and Realtor Amy Richardson of Keller Williams Leading Luxury Experts.

ICAN is a free youth center in the East Valley that offers programming for youth, teens, families and the community. Information: 480-821-4207 or icanaz.org.

Chandler Fire offers emergency training

The Chandler Fire, Health & Medical Department is offering a free training course from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, March 3, and Saturday, March 10 for Chandler residents who want to learn how to survive an emergency or disaster.

This 18-hour Basic Community Emergency Response Team training course provides community members with hands-on and classroom instruction. Courses include fire safety, light search and rescue, basic medical care and more.

The classes will be conducted at the Chandler Fire Training Center, 3550 S. Dobson Road.

The training is free, but space is limited.

Registration and information: 480-782-2120, chandlerfire@chandleraz.gov.
